Dorsey To Move Corporate Headquarters From Elba

A small shock wave will undoubtedly ripple through Elba this week as news of the move of Dorsey Trailers corporate headquarters to Montgomery flows through the community. Company President George Collier said Wednesday morning that the move will involve several corporate officers now living in Elba. The transition will take place over the next 12 months.

Collier said plans have not been finalized as to exactly which of the Dorsey officials will transfer to the corporate headquarters in Montgomery. He said several would definitely go, and some others were on the possible list, but he deferred naming either the "definites" or the "possibles" until a later date. Those transferred will move their families to Montgomery.

Vice-president Sam Collier has been appointed to head the Elba operation, and in the opinion of this newspaper, this indicates that President George Collier will definitely be among those moving to Montgomery.

Company vice-president-controller Jim Rogers was contacted by this newspaper after the shock wore off on the move announcement, and he said that a couple of locations were under consideration for the corporate offices in Montgomery, but no decision had been made at this time.

The bulletin released to Dorsey employees and dated March 31, 1981, reads as follows:

Dorsey Trailers, Inc. will establish its corporate headquarters in Montgomery, Alabama, during the summer of this year, according to an announcement this week by Dorsey president, George L. Collier. This new corporate office will be occupied, over a period of time, by the president and other key executives of the company.

The relocation, which has been in the planning stage for quite some time, has become necessary because of the rapid growth and expansion of the company during the past several years. Montgomery was selected because of its proximity to several Dorsey locations and its transportation and communication facilities.

Dorsey Trailers, Inc. supplies a full line of cargo trailers to the transportation industry and utility equipment for use by customers in the utility industry. These products are produced in six plants which are located in Alabama, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Dorsey Trailers is a subsidiary of The Dorsey Corporation which maintains its corporate headquarters in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Operations of The Dorsey Corporation encompass 6,700 employees, three subsidiaries and 30 production facilities located in 16 states.

DORSEY TRAILERS, INC.

Sam Collier, who currently serves as Vice-President of Finance and Administration at Dorsey, will move up to the newly-created executive position of vice-president and general manager, effective June 1. Well-known throughout the trucking industry, Collier will assume responsibility for Dorsey's entire Elba operation, the largest trailer manufacturing facility in the world.

The newly-named general manager joined Dorsey Trailers in 1959 as credit manager, and in 1966 was elevated to his present position as vice president in charge of finance and administration matters.

Collier is a business administration graduate of The University of Alabama, and is active in numerous civic, church and professional organizations. He currently serves as president of the Elba Rotary Club and is a deacon at First Baptist Church. He also is a director of the Associated Industries of Alabama.

During World War II Collier served as an officer in the U.S. Navy and was a member of the Elba Board of Education for 15 years. He is an Elba native and is married to the former Mary Louise Morgan.

The Colliers have two daughters and one grandson. Harriet Lynn Westbrook resides in Birmingham, and Heidi Morgan Collier will graduate this year from Judson College.

Ashe Gets Jail Sentence And $5,000 Fine, Files Appeal

Former Elba car dealer Frank Ashe has been sentenced to 10 years in prison for second degree arson in connection with a fire that destroyed his car dealership here last May. Coffee County Circuit Court Judge Riley Green suspended nine years of the sentence Tuesday morning and ordered Ashe to serve only one year in a state prison.

Following the sentencing, Ashe posted a $5,000 appeal bond and stated that he plans to appeal the case. He was also fined $5,000. The maximum penalty for a second degree arson conviction is 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

During the pre-sentencing hearing, Judge Green asked Ashe for any statements he wanted to make prior to receiving his sentence. Ashe replied,

"Judge I'm not guilty."

A five woman, seven man jury returned the guilty verdict in early March against Ashe after only two hours deliberation. The prosecution successfully argued that Ashe hired Robert Coker, Roger E. Stroud and Teresa Stroud to burn Frank Ashe Ford and the conspiracy was planned without the consent of the building's owner, Foy English. According to the prosecutors, the arson was committed in order to collect insurance money.

Financial records submitted as evidence during the trial indicated that the Ford dealership was nearing bankruptcy at the time of the fire. Ashe and the Strouds were arrested by Elba police shortly after the fire was reported. The two men were picked up a few minutes later at a nearby phone booth.

Cake, who had previously served prison sentences for burglary, was the state's main witness during the trial. He admitted to setting the fire and said he was hired by Ashe to commit the crime. Ashe was a neighbor of the Ashe family in Alexander City before they moved to Elba.

LOOKING OVER TRUCK'S CONTENTS--Sheriff Brice Paul goes over the articles of clothing found in a Chevrolet truck abandoned in Elba Monday. The truck's owner, Charlie Livingston, helps Paul identify the items which belonged to him and those which were apparently left by the two escaped convicts who stole his vehicle in Bainbridge, GA.

Elba To Abolish City Court

By CYNTHIA MADDOX

By mid-summer, violators of city traffic laws and ordinances will no longer plead their cases in municipal court. Instead they will have to face Judge Gary McAllely in Coffee County District Court.

The Elba City Council is expected to adopt a resolution at their April 6 meeting which formally abolishes municipal court and transfers the duties of City Judge Jackson Stokes to McAllely. This action will take effect in approximately three months.

Councilman L.F. (Sonny) Inman introduced the motion several weeks ago in what he described as an attempt to save money and take "all politics" out of the court.

"What you're doing is taking the politics out of court. For example I might get caught speeding, go before the judge and he would be lenient toward me. And the same situation might happen to someone else and he wouldn't be lenient at all," said Inman.

"I'm not implying that our judge ever did that or would. But as long as he was appointed by the city council, there was that chance. When the case gets to district court, the judge is from out-of-town and has no local interests since he is elected by all the people and not appointed by a few," Inman added.

According to Mayor Bob English, the initial move to district court may not show a significant financial savings. However, Stokes had asked the council to raise his $150 monthly salary. By abolishing the court, the council will not have the extra expense of increasing his fee. Stokes told the council members that his caseload had doubled and his salary no longer paid for the time he spent as city judge.

English said city court costs ranged between $350 and $450 each month for the judge's, clerk's, and city attorney's fees.

Under the new system, the city will receive 10 percent of court costs and 90 percent of the fines collected from municipal cases.

Once the cases are transferred any previous judgments made by the city judge will be enforced by McAllely.

City court is now held on the first and third Tuesday of the month. McAllely is expected to try municipal cases each third Friday, the same time his other district cases are held.

SERVICE AWARDS--Presented with awards for their Outstanding County Law Enforcement Officer; Robert Davis, outstanding community service from the Elba Pilot Club last weekend were, seated, Mrs. Mary Dowling, Outstanding Fireman; and James Spurtin, Outstanding Senior Citizen; standing from left, John Ed White, Policeman.

MAN AND WOMAN OF YEAR--Marion Brunson and Lorene Bryan, recipients of last year's Man and Woman of the Year awards, congratulate this year's winners, Rex Boutwell and Marsha Oggs (center). The announcements were made at the annual awards banquet of the Elba Pilot Club Saturday night. Boutwell and Oggs were nominated for the distinction due their community service activities.

Georgia Convicts Wind Path Through Elba

A Curtis residence was the scene of a burglary Monday morning that began in Bainbridge and ended with the arrest of two escaped Georgia prisoners in New Orleans.

According to Coffee County Sheriff Brice Paul, Mack Donaldson of Route 2, Elba reported that someone had entered his house between 10 and 11 a.m. Monday. They had entered through a back door after breaking out the window. Donaldson said a rifle, assorted clothes, $150, and his 1969 Ford truck were stolen.

Local law enforcement officials discovered a late model truck with Georgia license plates abandoned on Hwy. 84 west near Grantham's Grocery.

Paul said Donaldson's truck was found late Monday night in New Orleans. Arrested for the theft of the vehicle were Danny Channell and Nick Flick, both listed as escapees from a Georgia work-release camp. According to Paul, the two men escaped late Saturday night. They were tracked by dogs for approximately 400 yards and then their scent was lost.

The truck found abandoned in Elba belonged to Charlie Livingston. He arrived in Elba Tuesday to identify his property. Livingston said he was asleep when the truck was stolen. The keys were left in the vehicle.

Several articles of clothing, including the escapees' prison uniforms, empty liquor bottles and a knife were found in the truck. Livingston said none of the items belonged to him.

Channell was serving three years for breaking and entering, and issuing worthless checks. Flick was convicted of five and ten years for breaking and entering, and auto theft.

POOR ORIGINAL

Brainstorms

With Ferrie Cox

We are not exactly happy about the news that Dorsey Trailers is moving its corporate headquarters from Elba, but accept the fact that that company, as well as others, must move forward or they will be moving backwards. We have been assured the move will strengthen the firm and will not adversely influence continued trailer construction at the local plant. The worst thing we see with the move is the fact that Elba will be losing some of its best citizens when the transfer to Montgomery gets underway.

We followed with interest the lawsuit of movie star Carol Burnett against the National Enquirer. We were not surprised at the 1.6 million dollar verdict, and if her testimony was truthful, the verdict was justified. For many years we have heard that the Enquirer often strayed from the truth, and have wondered how they stayed out of court from just such lawsuits. As a publisher we feel there should be some responsibility for truth, and we don't feel this court case has hurt freedom of the press one little bit. . . in fact, it could very well place more credibility with those in the media who make concerted efforts to verify news stories (and even gossip).

The shock of President Reagan and members of his staff getting shot Monday has begun to wear off by now, but the underlying cause will be debated for months and maybe years to come. Our lingering concern is over a side issue rather than the shooting itself. Watching the televised press conferences during that first day, we felt more than a little disgust at some of the downright stupid questions being asked by people who are supposed to be the best news gatharers available. We always thought that newspaper, radio stations, magazines and the TV networks sent their experienced, successful reporters to Washington, but after Monday we are not sure.

Sunday night we received a heavy rain in this area. Some folks reported rain gauges with over 2 inches of rain, others less than 2 inches. Officially, Elba received less than 2 inches, but still it was a lot of rain!

Bill Bullard was passing around a picture of a whole bunch of fish last week. He reported that he and his dad, Bill, Sr., caught them at Lake Eufaula. After folks admired the picture, he pointed out that one batch had already been given away before the photo was made! Those close to the situation point out that the Senior Mr. Bullard caught most of the crappie, and even though Bill Jr. didn't exactly say it, he implied that he caught a well - at least half.

We couldn't help but feel a little bit sorry for Marsha Oggs Saturday night as she was being named Woman of the Year. As most families with several children, and with husband and wife active in civic duties, the Oggs' were going in several directions Saturday night. Husband Butch was at a Boy Scout event, daughter Christy was dancing in an event in Enterprise, and other family members were equally involved. It all worked, and Marsha can just hope that each time these things happen she can work them out as efficiently.

The Alabama Legislature is considering a law to allow double trailers on Alabama highways - that is twin trailers with overall lengths of 65 feet. We have received volumes of mail from safety councils, etc., saying it must be killed because the trailers are unsafe. Before this newspaper had time to write an editorial on the matter, we read where the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that an Iowa law prohibiting the 65-foot trailers is unconstitutional. This should mean that it is foolish to fight the bill. Actually we were in favor of the bill before when it passed both houses and was killed by a veto by the governor.

We were invited to a Rotary Club meeting a couple of weeks ago and ended up sitting near the Kleiner's folks, including the president, from up North. Well, we didn't put on any fancy dogs, but did try to be respectable. However, several of the older folks' "friends" made that kinda hard to do with their wisecracks and insults, but we were holding our own until it came time to introduce all visitors. Well, Dr. McCreary had invited us, and therefore, it was his duty to introduce us, and he killed all our efforts to be respectable with his introduction of us as a "half-visitor." Now he could have explained that a little and made it sound better, but he left us hanging and seemed to enjoy it as much as his fellow Rotarians. Now Doc is retired so we can't get him fired, he does a far better job than ye ole editor at church, so we can't get him in trouble with the preacher - and besides, the preacher was laughing as much as anyone. He is too nice to our family for us to get mad with him, so the only thing left is to go up on his subscription next year, and we have that under consideration.

Letters To The Editor

To the people of Elba:
Thank you from the bottom of my heart for electing me Woman of the Year. I was thrilled just to be nominated, and I felt very surprised and humble when my name was called as the winner.

The things that I have worked and been involved with have been a joy for me. People have always made it easy for me to be able to be active. Anytime I have worked on a committee, or been president of any organization, I have always had a lot of good help.

My children's grandparents and their great-grandchildren are wonderful baby-sitters, too. Last but not least, I have the best, most understanding and supportive husband in the world. Without my family, and you, my friends, I would never have been able to accomplish the small things that I have so far.

I feel sure that there may be people more qualified for this honor, but no one could be any prouder. The Pilot Club was very kind to have nominated me. I hope that I will be able to live up to the title, because I will certainly try.

I am a very short person, but you have made me feel 10 feet tall. Thank you again with all of my heart.

FOREIGN INVESTORS MUST REPORT HOLDINGS

Foreign investors who hold or have acquired agricultural lands in the United States are reminded to report their holdings within 90 days of the date of acquisition. Robert English, chairman of the Coffee County Agricultural and Stabilization (ASC) Committee, advises foreign investors to report any changes in the status of such land.

"There are a great number of foreign investors here in Alabama," English said, "and it is very important that they are aware of all reporting requirements relative to their U.S. agricultural holdings."

The reporting requirements and changes in status of the land referred to by the chairman are those which require investors to report not only acquisition of agricultural lands within 90 days of acquisition, but also require that the investor report changes in land use. A report should be filed when land use is changed from agricultural to non-agricultural or when the investor disposes of the land in any manner.

A foreign investor is defined as a person not having U.S. citizenship or admitted for permanent residency. It also includes any corporation created under the laws of a foreign government in which the persons holding as much as a five percent interest in U.S. agricultural lands are required to file a report at the local county office of ASC.

Kim Dyess Wins Beef Cook-off

BY: JUDY HELMS

As a part of the special food class, Kim Dyess demonstrated the recipe that took first place in the Beef Cook-off contest that was sponsored by the Cowbelles Association in New Brockton on March 19. Judy Helms, also from Zion Chapel, won third place.

The procedure that Kim followed probably had a lot to do with her winning the contest. Her family purchased ten pounds of hamburger meat and she was responsible for family meals for a week. During this time she experimented with many different recipes. Her family offered constructive criticism and the following recipe is the result of that experimentation:

2 lbs. ground beef
2 cups canned tomatoes
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tsp. ketchup
1 Tbsp. steak sauce (A1)
Salt and pepper to taste
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms, sliced
2 cups uncooked macaroni
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1-5 oz. chow mein noodles
1-8 oz. whole water chestnuts, chopped
1 cup grated cheese
1 can french fried onion rings
parsley

Brown meat; drain. Add all ingredients except macaroni, mushroom, cheese, onion rings and parsley. Simmer for 30 minutes. Cook macaroni. Drain. Add all other ingredients except cheese, onion rings and parsley. In the foods class there are many talented cooks and their talents are shared with all the members of the class.

Z.C. Faculty Lucks Up

BY: TONY CALHOUN

The "big game" of the year at Zion Chapel occurred on Thursday, March 19, 1981. It was a basketball game played between the senior class boys and the male faculty members. Eve though the faculty members were to be cheered on by "special group" of cheerleaders, the senior boys were sure that the time had come to show those "old men" no mercy.

The game started fast with both teams scoring one after another. With one second left in the first half, Tony Calhoun scored to tie the game at 32.

The second half started the same way but the faculty managed to gain a nine-point lead in the third quarter. Later in the fourth quarter, things began to speed up but the seniors could only count to within four points of the faculty's score. The faculty won the game 55-55.

Wendy Anderson Becomes Bride Of Hamilton Smith In Afternoon Ceremony

Miss Wendy Gay Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kasper Anderson, and Mr. Hamilton Clarence Smith, son of Mrs. Rose Beveridge Smith of Bay Minette, were united in holy matrimony on Saturday, March 14, at three o'clock in the afternoon at the Elba United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. John C. Carmichael performed the ceremony against a backdrop of emerald leaf greenery which outlined the choir loft wall and defined the five cathedral candelabra placed inside the loft. A sunburst arrangement of deep pink snapdragons, gladioli, miniature carnations and white Fuji mums interspersed with baby's breath, centered the wall and filled brass containers on the newel posts of the communion rail.

White candles burned on the altar, in the cathedral candelabra, and in a nine-branched silver candelabrum placed next to the altar. This candelabrum is a family heirloom, having been used at the groom's family weddings for six generations. The family pews were marked with bouquets of miniature pink carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Kenneth Baker presented a program of organ music which included selections by Bach, Schubert and Massengale. "Trumpet Tune" and "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell were used for the processional and recessional. Mrs. Mark Holt sang "The Greatest of These is Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of candelabra chignon styled with an empire bodice and a gently gathered skirt which swept back into a chapel train. The English net yoke was heavily appliqued. The Alencon lace which formed a high Victorian neckline. The same lace extended down the length of the long fitted sleeves. A Juliette cap of Alencon lace held the full length veil of silk illusion which was accented with lace medallions.

The bride carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink roses, carnations and creamy white stephanotis and baby's breath tied with a white cloth and covered with a white cloth applied in green and white stripes. The bouquet was carried by her mother and her three sisters at their wedding. She carried the handkerchief which had been carried and monogrammed in turn by each of a group of friends.

Mrs. Richard David Cobb of Montgomery served her sister as Matron of Honor.

Other attendants were Mrs. George Theodore Thomas of Atlanta, sister of the bride; Mrs. George Green Tisdale of Birmingham, sister of the groom; Miss Stephanie Marie Smith, niece of the bride; Miss Bunny Cox of Montgomery; Miss Beverly Cox of Atlanta; Mrs. Henry Hollis Horton III of Beaumont, Texas; and Mrs. John William Hughes of Columbus, Mississippi.

They were identical dresses of deep raspberry quina, styled with A-line skirts and fitted bodice. Bertha collars of chiffon formed rounded necklines in the front, and fell in folds down the back. They carried nosegays of rhubarb lilies and baby's breath tied with pink ribbon.

Young bridesmaid was the bride's niece, Miss Jennifer Kaye Smith. She wore a delicate pink organza styled with a shoulder ruffle edged in pink lace and a gathered skirt accented by a deep flounce at the hem. Her flowers were similar to the other bridesmaids.

Flower girl was Emily Aline Nix of Atlanta, niece of the groom. She was dressed in pink organza like the junior bridesmaid, but carried a basket of rhubarb lilies and baby's breath.

Little Anna Elizabeth Nix, the groom's niece of Atlanta, was also a flower girl. She wore a dress of pink organza with an ecru collar with French smocking in pink and carried a small basket of flowers.

The groom was attended by his grandfather, Mr. John Bruce Beveridge of Bay Minette, as best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Beveridge Smith of Melbourne, Florida, the groom's brother; Dr. George Green Tisdale of Birmingham, the groom's brother-in-law; Edwin Lee Peters Jr. of Mobile; Randall Welch Daniel of Gulf Shores; Joseph Daniel Howard of Pensacola; William Thomas Kelly of Montgomery; John Harold Pritchett Jr. of Birmingham.

Ushers were James Lynn Taylor of Bay Minette, and Blakely Marston Kitchens and Warren Harrison Blakely of Gulf Shores.

Best ringers were George Andrew Thomas of Atlanta, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Anderson wore a gown of blue silk crepe embroidered with brilliant green chignon styled with a chignon cape that fell to a deep point in the back. Mrs. John Bruce Beveridge, the groom's grandmother, chose a light blue gown with a matching jacket. All wore white philanopsis orchids.

For the reception the social hall of the church was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers. The edge of the stage was outlined with pots of white daisies and large ferns. In front of the stage the round registry table, covered in white, held a crystal vase of pink tulips. Miss Carol Crumpton of Mobile registered the guests.

In the far corner ferns and pots of deep pink azaleas were placed in pyramid arrangement.

The bride's table was covered with a white skirt topped with a heavily embroidered white linen. In the center of the table were three round wedding cake placed fresh pink carnations which also decorated the top. A pair of five-branched silver candelabra held white candles and bouquets of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Bruce Smith of Melbourne, Florida, the groom's sister-in-law, and Miss Bruce Beveridge of Birmingham, the groom's cousin, served the cake.

The groom's table was skirted in green taffeta and covered with a white cloth applied in green and white stripes. The bouquet was carried by her mother and her three sisters at their wedding. She carried the handkerchief which had been carried and monogrammed in turn by each of a group of friends.

Mrs. Richard David Cobb of Montgomery served her sister as Matron of Honor.

For a honeymoon trip to Acapulco, Mexico, and New Orleans, the bride wore a linen dress styled with red skirt, white bodice and short navy-striped jacket. Her accessories were navy.

The couple will reside in Bay Minette where the groom is associated with the First Alabama Bank.

Young bridesmaid was the bride's niece, Miss Jennifer Kaye Smith. She wore a delicate pink organza styled with a shoulder ruffle edged in pink lace and a gathered skirt accented by a deep flounce at the hem. Her flowers were similar to the other bridesmaids.

Flower girl was Emily Aline Nix of Atlanta, niece of the groom. She was dressed in pink organza like the junior bridesmaid, but carried a basket of rhubarb lilies and baby's breath.

Little Anna Elizabeth Nix, the groom's niece of Atlanta, was also a flower girl. She wore a dress of pink organza with an ecru collar with French smocking in pink and carried a small basket of flowers.

The groom was attended by his grandfather, Mr. John Bruce Beveridge of Bay Minette, as best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Beveridge Smith of Melbourne, Florida, the groom's brother; Dr. George Green Tisdale of Birmingham, the groom's brother-in-law; Edwin Lee Peters Jr. of Mobile; Randall Welch Daniel of Gulf Shores; Joseph Daniel Howard of Pensacola; William Thomas Kelly of Montgomery; John Harold Pritchett Jr. of Birmingham.

Ushers were James Lynn Taylor of Bay Minette, and Blakely Marston Kitchens and Warren Harrison Blakely of Gulf Shores.

Best ringers were George Andrew Thomas of Atlanta, nephew of the bride.

Mrs. Anderson wore a gown of blue silk crepe embroidered with brilliant green chignon styled with a chignon cape that fell to a deep point in the back. Mrs. John Bruce Beveridge, the groom's grandmother, chose a light blue gown with a matching jacket. All wore white philanopsis orchids.

For the reception the social hall of the church was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers. The edge of the stage was outlined with pots of white daisies and large ferns. In front of the stage the round registry table, covered in white, held a crystal vase of pink tulips. Miss Carol Crumpton of Mobile registered the guests.

In the far corner ferns and pots of deep pink azaleas were placed in pyramid arrangement.

The bride's table was covered with a white skirt topped with a heavily embroidered white linen. In the center of the table were three round wedding cake placed fresh pink carnations which also decorated the top. A pair of five-branched silver candelabra held white candles and bouquets of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Bruce Smith of Melbourne, Florida, the groom's sister-in-law, and Miss Bruce Beveridge of Birmingham, the groom's cousin, served the cake.

The groom's table was skirted in green taffeta and covered with a white cloth applied in green and white stripes. The bouquet was carried by her mother and her three sisters at their wedding. She carried the handkerchief which had been carried and monogrammed in turn by each of a group of friends.

Mrs. Richard David Cobb of Montgomery served her sister as Matron of Honor.

Other attendants were Mrs. George Theodore Thomas of Atlanta, sister of the bride; Mrs. George Green Tisdale of Birmingham, sister of the groom; Miss Stephanie Marie Smith, niece of the bride; Miss Bunny Cox of Montgomery; Miss Beverly Cox of Atlanta; Mrs. Henry Hollis Horton III of Beaumont, Texas; and Mrs. John William Hughes of Columbus, Mississippi.

They were identical dresses of deep raspberry quina, styled with A-line skirts and fitted bodice. Bertha collars of chiffon formed rounded necklines in the front, and fell in folds down the back. They carried nosegays of rhubarb lilies and baby's breath tied with pink ribbon.

I went to the football jamboree in New Brockton last Friday night and was very impressed by all the county teams, especially New Brockton! Coach Leavy Boutwell's squad looked in mid-season form as they completely wiped out Kinston.

The Gamecocks came out ready to play and scored two quick touchdowns before the fans had found their seats. Brockton has a stable of running backs second to none, led by speedsters Joseph Burrows and Mike Dunaway. Quarterback Anthony Maddox looked to be a threat both running and passing, and the backs have a very solid line to lead the way. The Brockton football team is a well-rounded squad, with very talented young men who are expertly coached. Look out, folks, they are going to be tough!

Zion Chapel lost 15 seniors from last year's team, but looked good in their loss to Wickburg. The Rebels have a very young team, and they don't have much experience, but Friday night they showed they had guts and proved they would battle with anyone.

Zion had several boys that caught my eye, such as Mark Storey and Walter Adair, but the standout was quarterback Kevin Flowers. Flowers, the team's manager last season, showed he could run the offense, and looked very good running the ball. He could be an important man in the Rebels' march back to the top. Zion Chapel should be much improved next year, but they must rely on young players to help carry the load.

Coach Ricky Rainer's Kinston Bulldogs came out on the short end of a 26-0 score, but showed a lot of pride by never giving up and battling until the final horn. The Bulldog team was almost all seniors last year, and everyone knew it would be a rebuilding time this spring.

Don't let the big loss fool you - Kinston has the foundation to build a solid team on, and they won't lay down for anyone next season. I thought Bulldog quarterback Darrell Smith showed a lot of potential in the jamboree, both running and passing. He completed two long passes, and hit his receiver right on the money, and did a good job on the option. He's going to be a good one. What's ahead for Kinston? I look for the Bulldogs to improve with every game and post another winning record!

I talk with New Brockton's Coach Charles Cole almost every day, and find the college recruiters very interesting. Last week a coach from a junior college in Texas passed through and wanted to set up a press conference to announce the signing of two of the Gamecocks' players. The coach was that the boys weren't ready to sign, so the coach went home and left a pair of scholarship offers on his desk, just waiting to be signed. Coach Cole said all 4 of his senior starters have at least three offers, and added that one has been contacted by over 20 schools. Sounds a little like a soap opera, doesn't it?

The Dixie Youth and Babe Ruth baseball seasons are almost here and that means the recreation department is in need of coaches. Note: I said coaches! In the past, people have agreed to coach teams and done little more than babysit. We don't need babysitters - we need people who are willing to give up several hours of their free time to teach young boys the fundamentals of the game. It is usually a thankless job, but it can be personally very rewarding as you watch the kids get better each week. I am on the recreation board and am also an officer in both the Babe Ruth and Dixie Youth Leagues, so if you think you want to coach, let me or Dennis Smith know. The only qualification is that you be dedicated and willing to work. Come on - we need people just like you!

The weather was beautiful last weekend, so what did I do? I lay in bed and watched the NCAA semifinals on Saturday. Needless to say, both my picks lost, which made it a wasted day. The night was clear and cool and I went to the Elba speedway to watch the go-kart races. The races were late starting, but soon got going full blast and there was plenty of action for all the fans to see. I may be wrong, but to me there is something missing at the races. Maybe it lasts too long, or maybe an exciting announcer is needed. Oh well, it's just a thought.

If it will stay pretty this weekend, I'm going to the beach and work on my tan. See ya there. . . .

Final Registration Date

Coach Wood Reports Leadership Will Be Key In 1981

The Elba Tigers completed spring football practice last week following their Black and Gold game, and Coach Mack Wood reported, "I didn't think the spring game was worth a darn. Comparative to other scrimmages we'd held, I would have to rate it as just fair."

"The hitting wasn't intense," added Wood, "the blocking and tackling wasn't good, and all in all, we just didn't get after folks. I did think the passing game on the Gold team looked good, and Mike Amison probably had his best day of the spring throwing the ball. At times the secondary looked good, but at some times it totally broke down. I guess the game was pretty good considering we split the boys up, but I was more pleased with some of the scrimmages we had."

"At quarterback," reported Wood, when asked to evaluate the spring, "Mike Amison had a real good spring. He has always been a good option quarterback, and this spring he improved on the Gold team because of his first time and he should give us depth at the position. If Ted Horstead only played one way, he could be our stand-out at fullback or line-backer. He is so talented we have to keep him on the field and we know he can get the job done."

"Dwayne Hooks worked hard and had a real good spring at fullback, and we all feel he can help us out this fall. Looking at our receivers Mike Smith had a good spring at split-end, and came along well late in practice. We had a lot of boys work hard at tackle, led by Brett Scarborough, who had his best spring. Scottie Tillis came back out and can be a good one if he sticks it out, and Ken Owens has experience. Kenny Daniels is young, but he can help our program, as can Blue Morrow and Steve White. Erwin Gannells is a steady performer, while Paul Fontenot and Jerry Siler are both young, but they should help us this fall."

"On defense," said Wood, "we had a lot of kids who worked hard. Emanuel Magwood had a real good spring in the secondary and improved every week. Jerry Siler came on and we're counting on him, while Shane Phelps missed a lot because of sickness, but he can help us if he is willing to work. At defensive back we had 4 good ones who were ready to work. They all had quickness and should give us depth. Mike Smith looked real quick, Stanley Barnes is a good athlete and should improve as he learns, and Coach Nickson, of Clarendon Junior College in Texas, both talked with Gamecock players last week, but Cole didn't bother me, but having only two boys on the team did. The thing that makes me mad is that the same coaches voted four of our players on the conference's all-tournament team earlier in the season. We had four players on the all-tournament team in every tournament we played in all year including the state tournament. Only having two boys on the squad hurt me because I know we deserved to have more."

While speaking about basketball, Coach Cole added that two college coaches were in New Brockton last week courting his

Six County Cagers Named To

All-SEAC Team

The South East Alabama Conference announced its 1981 "All Conference" basketball team last week and the honored squad included six players from Coffee County schools.

Kinston led the way with 3 players - Jeff Rhodes, Curtis Lane and Scott Sanson, while New Brockton followed with two - Ricky Nelson and Fred Thomas - and Zion Chapel was represented with one - Walter Adair. Also named to the 2-man squad were Earl Williams of Goshen, Chester and Chuck Persons of Brantley, Sandy King of Red Level and Robert Coleman and Alvin Daniels of Dozier. Kinston's Pete Kelley and New Brockton's Charles Cole were named Co-Coaches of the Year.

When asked about the all-conference selections, New Brockton's Coach Cole stated, "I felt we should have had at least three players on the team! Being the co-coach of the year didn't bother me, but having only two boys on the team did. The thing that makes me mad is that the same coaches voted four of our players on the conference's all-tournament team earlier in the season. son, while Dennis Pope and Tim Bowers came back out, and can help us if they work. Danny Folmar and Greg Bowers are both young and they just need work. In time they can help us."

"We have three centers that are about even, and they all have proven they want to play. Charlie Marler and Greg Parker are experienced, while Marshall Bowers is young, but coming on strong. Michael Maddox worked hard and should help the junior team."

son, while Dennis Pope and Tim Bowers came back out, and can help us if they work. Danny Folmar and Greg Bowers are both young and they just need work. In time they can help us."

"We have three centers that are about even, and they all have proven they want to play. Charlie Marler and Greg Parker are experienced, while Marshall Bowers is young, but coming on strong. Michael Maddox worked hard and should help the junior team."

"On defense," said Wood, "we had a lot of kids who worked hard. Emanuel Magwood had a real good spring in the secondary and improved every week. Jerry Siler came on and we're counting on him, while Shane Phelps missed a lot because of sickness, but he can help us if he is willing to work. At defensive back we had 4 good ones who were ready to work. They all had quickness and should give us depth. Mike Smith looked real quick, Stanley Barnes is a good athlete and should improve as he learns, and Coach Nickson, of Clarendon Junior College in Texas, both talked with Gamecock players last week, but Cole didn't bother me, but having only two boys on the team did. The thing that makes me mad is that the same coaches voted four of our players on the conference's all-tournament team earlier in the season. We had four players on the all-tournament team in every tournament we played in all year including the state tournament. Only having two boys on the squad hurt me because I know we deserved to have more."
